Discovering New Boundaries

Variegated
Privacy Fencing

Take a step away from the ordinary. Now there's privacy—with panache!

Enduris Variegated Fencing gives you privacy—with style.

Outdoor retreats should reflect your own individual style. Whether your desire is for security, privacy, traffic flow or aesthetics, Enduris has a design for you. And now our privacy panels are available in three new Variegated grain patterns – handsome, earthy blends that match or contrast with your home's siding, deck or porch.

Our Variegated panels are created using a unique color pellet melt process that results in a natural-looking grain pattern. The light and dark grains complement each other and give the panels texture and depth. Variegated Cream is a blend of tan, khaki, white and gray; Variegated Tan is a warm mix of tan and khaki; and Variegated Khaki is rich, dark and elegant. Because we create the Variegated patterns from mixtures of our existing solid colors, you can mix and match with confidence.

Designing your fence is easy. Start with Tan posts, rails and caps and choose Variegated Tan privacy panels for a real harmonious look. Or choose the same Tan rail elements and go darker with the panels in Khaki. You might mix Khaki posts, caps and rails with Variegated Cream privacy panels.

We've made it even easier to visualize by creating a Fence Design Studio on our website. It allows you to set up any combination of solid, variegated or mix and match options. Go to www.enduris.com, click on Fence Studio and follow the simple directions.

Now you can really complement the architectural style of your house with the distinctive look of Enduris Variegated Privacy Fencing.
